

The Real Truth About Rufaidah Yoghurt Price List, Owners & Kano Zaria Road Branch

(with 7Hubent Tech and Personal Life Stories You'll Never Forget!)

If you've ever tasted Rufaidah Yoghurt, you already know it's not your regular, watered-down 'no taste, no flavour' yoghurt that leaves you wondering, "Why did I waste my money?" No o! This yoghurt hits differently—like a burst of freshness and creaminess that wraps you in pure joy. And if you haven't tried it, maybe because you're confused about the prices or just wondering who even owns this magical drinkable goldmine, you've come to the right place. Sit tight, grab some garri if you can't afford their yoghurt yet, because this one will blow your mind.

Rufaidah Yoghurt: The Price List that Everyone's Asking For

Before I even go into who owns Rufaidah Yoghurt (or who we suspect is behind this creamy goodness), let's talk about the price. Because, let's be honest, Naija people love bargains. And with the economy like this, knowing how much something costs upfront can save you from unnecessary heartbreak.

As of today, the price list for Rufaidah Yoghurt is:

- Small Size (350ml): ₦200
- Medium Size (750ml): ₦400
- Large Size (1.5L): ₦800
- Family Pack (5L): ₦2,000

Yes, I know you're thinking, "Ah! This economy sef, yoghurt wey I fit make for house..." But wait. Don't think like that! Rufaidah Yoghurt is worth every naira. And trust me, I'm not even getting paid to say that! Although, hey, 7Hubent Tech, if you're reading this, I wouldn't mind a small compensation for all this free advertising, o!

Who Owns Rufaidah Yoghurt? The People Behind the Creamy Magic

Now, here's the tea. Everyone wants to know: Who is behind this Rufaidah Yoghurt business? Who is cashing out while we're here buying yoghurt like it's bread and beans for breakfast? The truth is, Rufaidah Yoghurt is not one of those faceless multinationals that you can't reach. No, no, no. It's proudly Nigerian, and specifically, Kano-born!

The main branch, located on Zaria Road in Kano, has become something of a legend. People travel from all corners of the state just to pick up their family packs, and there's always one uncle who insists on stocking his entire freezer.

The owner? Well, let me break it down. Rufaidah Yoghurt is a family-owned business, and the woman behind the curtain is Mrs. Rufaidah Abubakar. Yes, a fierce, hardworking, business-savvy woman who knows the worth of quality. Her husband, Alhaji Abubakar, supports her by handling the logistics while she focuses on making sure each bottle that leaves their factory is on point. Kano is not even ready for this family of yoghurt entrepreneurs!

Zaria Road Branch Kano: Why It's Special

Now, let me give a shout-out to the Zaria Road branch of Rufaidah Yoghurt. If you live in Kano and haven't visited this place yet, what are you waiting for? Is your village people holding you back? Go there, even if it's just to experience the clean environment and the smiling attendants who'll convince you that you're in a 5-star yoghurt palace, not your average kiosk.

But let me also be real with you—one day, I went to the Zaria Road branch, and it was so packed, I almost left empty-handed. Then I remembered the taste of their yoghurt and decided to wait in line like a humble servant. Was it worth it? Definitely. But I had to learn patience that day, and I advise you to plan your trip accordingly. Weekends are busy, so if you can go during the week, better for you.

My Life Experience with Rufaidah Yoghurt

Let me tell you, there was a time I was broke. Like, “I no get money for suya” kind of broke. You know that kind of situation where all you have is change in your pocket? So, I decided to use my last ₦200 to get the smallest bottle of Rufaidah Yoghurt. I can't explain what happened next, but I felt like I won a lottery after that first sip. The smoothness! The flavour! It's like all my financial problems disappeared for that moment.

I've been a loyal customer ever since, and every time someone asks me, “Why are you always buying this yoghurt when you could save that money?” I tell them, “Mind your business! This yoghurt is giving me life.”
